Orland Adopts Ordinance Covering Swimming Pools

An ordinance governing the building of swimming pools in Orland Park was adopted by the village board at its regular meeting Monday night.

By its definitions and provisions portable pools are out because they cannot meet the requirements. The ban does not apply to those small wading pools children use in backyards but anything one can swim in must be of a permanent nature.

The ordinance defines a swimming pool as "an accessory structure, indoors or out of doors, when as a receptacle for water, having a depth at any point of more than 24 inches and a capacity of more than 1,000 gallons or a water surface exceeding 250 square feet, intended for the purpose of immersion or partial immersion therein of human beings and includes all the appurtenant equipment in or above the ground."

The measure also sets up how pools shall be constructed and maintained. It is required that they be connected with a proper drainage system, have filters and otherwise comply with state, county, and village health laws. Nor can they be filled thru use of hose. They must be fenced in. The permit fee to build a pool is $30; the fee to demolish one is set at $10.

A permit for a swimming pool was allowed by the board last night. It is to cost $3,600. The village board acted on the swimming pool ordinance this week because if this is a hot summer it is expected there will be a number of residents who will want to put up portable pools.

Trustee Lloyd Cowan declared that in his opinion portable pools—with the exception of those little waders—were hazardous, an eyesore and should be labeled as an attractive nuisance.

Trustee Mel Doogan complained that the effluent from the sanitary district's sewage disposal plant was smelly and obnoxious to persons living nearby. He was for involving other agencies in the matter but was dissuaded, being told that machinery was in motion to get the situation remedied.

Whether it is sewage in the effluent or chlorine that is responsible for killing some of the fish in the forest preserve district waters at Orland is a question now being debated by forest preserve and sanitary district representatives, it was brought out at Monday's meeting.

A request for approval of Units 9, 10 and 11 in Fairways Estates was made to the board Monday night by the developers but the board declined to act at this time. A letter is going to the developers telling them the proposed plats are incomplete and for them to come in with the missing data. There are 113 lots in Units 9, 10 and 11. In all there are 315 lots in Fairways Estates, Units 9, 10 and 11 will close the development out, it was stated.

An invitation was extended to village board members by the Orland Park volunteer fire department to attend the department's annual picnic.

1st Graders Can Register At Frankfort

First grade pupils in Frankfort, who have not already done so may be registered now for the fall term that will begin next September. The school office will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., it was announced by school authorities.

Children who will be six years old on or before Dec. 1, 1963 and were not in the Frankfort kindergarten class last year should be registered.

Parents are requested to bring proof of age and pick up health cards when they come to register their youngsters. The state law requires a health and dental examination of all children entering school the first time. Another such examination is required when youngsters reach the fifth grade.

PAMELA WROBLEWSKI, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emereth Boyden, Lincoln Estates, will spend the summer in France, studying the language. The 15-year-old Gary high school student, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Wroblewski, is taking the language course on a scholarship that she earned this year. She was an honor student in language and will spend the summer in working on advanced French. Her mother, the former Donna McLean, formerly resided in Lincoln Estates.

Teachers Taking Summer Work

Several members of the Frankfort elementary teaching staff are enrolled in summer classes to further their professional growth.

Mrs. Robert VanRheeden, 6th grade teacher, is pursuing studies at Olivet Nazarene College during the summer session. Mrs. VanRheeden was in attendance at Olivet during the past school year also.

James Bryant, 8th grade teacher and coach, is doing graduate work toward a master's degree at Northern Illinois university. Also attending Northern Illinois university for the summer session is William George, science teacher for upper grades.

Mrs. Charlotte Love, 4th grade, has been attending an extension course from Northern that was being offered at Joliet.

Community Celebration To Mark Fiesta Days

The second annual Fiesta Days celebration sponsored by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce will get underway this Saturday, June 29 and run thru July 4.

Bargains and sales are planned by the merchants for the period from June 29 thru July 3, but July 4 will be a community affair with an homecoming overture.

The program for the Fourth will be held in Mokena Community park. In addition to the booths and other attractions at the park something new has been added this year.

One of the highlights of Fiesta Days this year will be the presentation of a pageant, an historical pageant of Mokena, by the Women's club.

The pageant has been written by members of the Women's club and will be staged and directed by the members and a goodly portion of the club membership will also appear in the cast.

A history of Mokena has also been written by Mrs. Florence Pitman and copies will be on sale at the park on July 4, the proceeds going to the club.

There will be two performances of the pageant, one at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 8 o'clock that night. Celebration of the Fourth in Mokena this year will begin with a parade at 1 o'clock that afternoon. The parade will form on the Carpenter Street school grounds and will move along Division to Front, thence west to Wolf rd; south to LaPorte road and east on LaPorte to the park.

According to those in charge of the parade they expect to numerous floats and marching units in the line of march.

After the evening performance of the pageant there will be a fireworks display to conclude the affair.

The public auction, which was quite popular last year, will be repeated this year. The auction is to be held in the Rock Island parking lot on Front st., with Norman Strassenberg the auctioneer.

Persons who have anything they want sold may bring to the lot Saturday morning, beginning at 8 o'clock. The seller is entitled to the amount of money for which his items are sold, less 10 per cent, it was explained. The 10 per cent will go to the Mokena Chamber of Commerce for in various civic projects. People who would donate white elephant items to be sold are assured by the committee of its appreciation.

The auction will be preceded by a lunch to be served on the parking lot of the Mokena State bank. On Monday night at 9 o'clock old time silent movies will be shown in the Rock Island tract along Front st.

A queen contest is also being operated and the various candidates for the honor are busy now selling votes. There are nine candidates for queen and one of them will be chosen the night of the Fourth.

The queen candidates are: Joyce Seal, Marcia Schubert, Ann Owens, Carol Frantz, Frances Klingler, Nancy Wagner, Gayle Schmitz, Carol Benson and Margo Barenz.

Burglars Loot Mokena Drug Store Of Narcotic Supply

Bold burglars, who worked while an alarm was ringing, broke into the Mokena Pharmacy, Front and Mokena streets last week and made off with a supply of narcotics.

The drugs were the only thing taken, and while Daniel Kurber, the store owner, does not keep a large supply of narcotics on hand, all that he did have were carried off.

That the thieves worked fast was apparent from the nature of the job.

Entry was gained thru a door. A heavy jimmy or crowbar was apparently used to force the door according to investigators. They also pointed out that the burglars could see that the door was wired and that they knew breaking it would set off the alarm.

Forcing of the door would have made a loud noise, especially at night, but the burglars are believed to have been prepared for their timing the job with the passage of a freight train. The Rock Island tracks are at the rear of the store.

The rumble of the train would have covered up the noise of the forcing the door, it was said, and for several minutes at least the clamor of the burglar alarm bell could have been taken for the clang of the warning bells on the grade crossing gates on Mokena street and Wolf road, it was believed.

Investigators believe that as soon as the door was opened the burglars or burglar rushed into the store and grabbed the narcotics. It is believed that the ones who entered the store last week were responsible for the burglary last fall. At that time narcotics were again the goal of the thieves. The persons who staged the break-in last week apparently knew just where to go to get the narcotics without wasting any time or motion.

They had fled by the time the ringing of the alarm finally was recognized as such by patrons in the Surovick tavern in the next block west and Mokena.

Here's Something Else For Your Mail-Zip Code

(CNS) - "Zip" code numbers for the south suburbs were announced this week by the Chicago post office.

Designed to speed up the delivery of the mail, both nationally and locally, the "zip" number tells a postal clerk at a glance the state, township, or city to which a letter is addressed with a five digit number. (Editor's Note: The explanation given here would indicate that postal clerks will either have to have photographic or infallible memories to remember all these numbers.)

For example the address of Harry H. Semrow, the postmaster of the Chicago post office could be written:

Harry H. Semrow
Postmaster, U.S. Post Office
Chicago, Illinois 60607

County Grants Variations For 3 Gas Stations

The request of the Mutual National Bank of Chicago for variations for setbacks for signs, lights and pumps for three gasoline stations as a part of the Arbury Hills set-up has been approved by the Will county zoning board of appeals.

One of the stations is to be on the east side of U.S. 45, half a mile north of U.S. 30; one is to be on the northeast of U.S. 45 and 191st st., and the other on the northwest corner of that intersection.

According to Kurber the drugs taken had a value of around $125 but the thieves could have realized many times that amount in disposing of the material to dope addicts.

State police are investigating.

Mrs. McGovney was 90 years old. Born in England she came to the United States with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnes when a small girl. The family settled in Mokena and she had resided here since.

Her husband, Edward McGovney, farmed in the Mokena area for many years. He preceded her in death, as did her first husband Frank Hurley; a sister, Mrs. George Hacker, and five brothers, Raymond, George, William, Alfred and Ted Barnes.

Surviving are three daughters.

A 50-MILE SWIM is a breeze for the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bills, 95 Parker, Mokena. The boys, from left, David and Charles, 11-year-old twins, and Robert, 12, prepare to start on their second 50 miles under the supervision of their mother, an expert swimmer who trains swim instructors for Red Cross. The Swim and Stay Fit program, developed after President Kennedy appealed to the nation for more attention to physical fitness, soon will be under way at many Will county pools and beaches where attendants will monitor distances covered by participants as they progress toward their goal. This is "Swim and Stay Fit" week (June 23-29). It should encourage swimming as a way to have fun and stay healthy.

BENDING TO the task of extinguishing a fire amid hay and straw bales on the George and Sam Beemsterboer farm at 159th st. and U.S. 45 near Orland Park were the above firemen representing five fire departments. Departments involved were from Orland Park, Lockport, Homer, Palos Park and Tinley Park. The blaze, which broke out in a 40' x 100' barn rented by the Brumfield Hay and Grain out of Lexington, Ky., and Miami, Fla., was apparently started by spontaneous combustion.

Check Your Reassessments, Illinois Farmers Advised

Illinois farm owners should check the reassessment of their farm property for real estate tax purposes, according to Bert Vandervliet, taxation department director of the Illinois Agricultural Association, state-wide Farm Bureau.

Vandervliet said these reassessments, conducted every four years, are published in local newspapers. These legal publications constitute a notice to the property owners.

The 1963 quadrennial reassessment of real estate is now completed in all of the 84 township-governed counties in downstate Illinois. Township-governed counties are those managed by elected township supervisors and assistant supervisors, in contrast to the 17 commission-formed counties governed by three elected commissioners. Real estate was reassessed in the commission-formed counties in 1962.

It is anticipated that most of the real estate reassessments for 1963 in the township-governed counties will be published during the first two weeks of July, Vandervliet said. Although July 10 is technically the time limit for publication in counties of less than 150,000 population, this specific requirement is not mandatory, with the result that publication at a later date may occur in a number of the counties. Similarly August 10 is the limit for publishing in the downstate counties having more than 150,000 population.

The 1963 real estate assessments for each township will be published in a local newspaper if there is a qualifying publication published therein. If not, the assessments for such townships, will be published in a newspaper having general circulation within such predominantly rural townships.

The published reassessments of all real estate will reflect any changes in the local assessment that were made by the local township assessor in the first instance, or subsequently by the supervisor of assessments. This publication will also give notice of changes in assessments that to some extent may reflect additions, removals, or destruction of buildings.

This publication constitutes legal notice to the property owners. If the property owner has reason to consider the published assessment to be higher than the average level of assessments on comparable property within the county, he may file a complaint with the board of review no later than Aug. 1 or within 10 days following the date of publication, whichever is the later date. The procedure is identical for downstate counties having 150,000 and more population with the exception that the complaint deadline is Sept. 1 or no later than 10 days following the date of publication.

The taxpayer preferably should file his complaint on forms prescribed by the board of review and which are available in the office of the clerk of the board of review. The filing of such complaint entitles the complainant to an individual hearing at a time to be set by the board of review. The action of the board of review, in the great majority of instances, is conclusive. If a property owner has good reason to believe that a board of review has not granted fair treatment to his complaint, it is recommended that he employ counsel.

It is important for taxpayers to consider that the 1963 publication of local assessments may or may not be the same assessment figures that will appear on his 1963 real estate tax bills payable in 1964. All of the published 1963 real estate assessments are subject to individual adjustments and equalization by the county boards of review.

During the last quadrennial period, all local assessments of both personal and real property have been increased by as much as 600 per cent by the state revenue department to equalize assessments between counties.

It is thought that the local reassessments for 1963 may be substantially increased in some counties, representing an attempt by the supervisor of assessments to eliminate the need for any state equalization factor between counties. Where this happens, it may be advisable to inquire from the county supervisor of assessments concerning whether such increased assessments will, in his opinion, eliminate the need of a multiplier by the state revenue department.

Generally speaking, the equalized level of real estate assessments should reflect no more 50 per cent of the market value of any given parcel of real estate on Jan. 1, 1963. Typically, the current market value of any parcel of farm real estate can best be evaluated in terms of recent sales of comparable property within the county.

The property owner should by no means be distracted nor hesitant to file a complaint if it appears that comparable property within his immediate vicinity is likewise assessed at an average of more than 50 per cent of full value. It is commonplace for substantial rural areas within a given township to be assessed higher than the 50 per cent level. However, these circumstances should by no means enter into the consideration of a complaint on any individual overassessment. Too frequently boards of review have dismissed such complaints by merely relating the assessment of any individual farm to assessments of adjacent farms. No individual complainant should be denied a reduction in his assessment merely on grounds that the owner of adjacent over-assessed parcels have not filed complaints. Local boards of review should rather consider each case on its own merits. The boards have authority on their own motion to make further reductions in the entire area if their examination would indicate the need.

Taxpayers should confine their preparation of assessment complaints to strictly factual information to substantiate market value and not attempt to secure a reduction in assessment on the basis of the amount of the previous tax bill. Assessments and tax levies are two separate and distinct considerations, the latter being determined by boards of education and other local governing bodies. It is equally important that boards of review concern themselves only with the assessments in question and not consider the effects of their deliberations in terms of pressing revenue requirements for local governmental units.

Water Supply Is Seen As Problem In No. Illinois

Northern Illinois is pumping underground water faster than nature replaces it.

A Northern Illinois university earth sciences professor says the state's northern section may face a serious future problem because of this increased water use. Dr. Loren T. Caldwell, NIU earth sciences department head, bases his remarks on his recently published report of a preliminary study of ground water geology in the DeKalb and Sycamore areas.

The immediate area, he reported, appears to have an "excellent water supply." However, the DeKalb-Sycamore area "is at the west edge of the hazard," he told an interviewer.

"In recent years, Northern Illinois has developed a water problem because of urbanization, increased power pumping of water on farms, and some irrigation. This is especially true east of the Fox River where the water table has dropped 150 feet in the last three or four decades."

"The fact that the total pumping of water far exceeds the natural replacement rate shows a need for better management," Around DeKalb, he said the water table has dropped 25 to 30 feet in the last 30 years which indicates that the problem in the area is less severe than east of the Fox River. "Now is the proper time to manage water resources in the DeKalb region."

Date for the study was obtained from drilled-well records showing location, description, and thickness of the rock strata penetrated. Caldwell said his project was intended as introductory research to a long series of under ground water budget studies which may lead to better management of water resources.

Climaxing 4th Of July Event With Fireworks

A gigantic 4th of July celebration is being planned for Tinley Park by the Recreation Commission and the park board. This will be the second annual such celebration. A very successful event last year, it is planned to make it an annual affair. The public is invited to attend this community-participation and community-sponsored fun-filled day with friends and neighbors.

The festivities will start at 1 p.m. with demonstrations by many youth groups, including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and 4-H. The Boy Scout troops will collectively demonstrate how to prepare and set up a camp site. The Tinley Park Archery club will have a range on the field. The Midget football team will be on hand and there will be Babe Ruth and Little League baseball games, plus a wrestling exhibition. For the children there will be games and races with prizes awarded and the local firemen will have an exciting fire fighting exhibition. The day will be climaxed by a gigantic fireworks display after dark. All of the fun will be held in Memorial park, 171st st. east of Oak Park ave. Families may pack a lunch basket and there will also be refreshments available.

MRS. WILLIAM B. LLOYD

Kathryn Fischer Becomes Bride Of William Lloyd

Bouquets of gladioli and mums decorated the altar of St. Jude's Catholic church for the marriage ceremony between Miss Kathryn Frances Fisher and William B. Lloyd.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Fischer of New Lenox while Mr. Lloyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Lloyd of Joliet.

The couple was married the morning of May 18 with Rev. Louis Diethelm, O.F.M., officiating.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Griffin, organist.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a very elegant gown of white bouquet taffeta with re-embroidered alencon lace and tiny seed pearls, long sleeves and fitted bodice. The full skirt ascended with the lace and pearls cascaded to a full chapel train.

Her head-piece of alencon lace and pearls held a bouffant veil of pure silk imported illusion, and she carried a cascade of white orchids.

(Industrial Review)
One by one the great and dominant figures of our age pass from it. Those who made history, for good or ill, become a part of history, the final verdicts on what they did or failed to do not yet having been given.

A man who rose from the humblest of beginnings, to become an outstanding figure of his time, died on June 3. The man was Pope John XXIII--the 262nd of a line that goes, unbroken, back to the Apostle Peter. Not a great deal was expected when he was elevated to the throne at the advanced age of 76, and he served only about four and a half years. Indeed, there was talk at the time that the Cardinals who elected him might regard him as an "interim" Pope who would largely address himself to restoring and repairing serious administrative problems that had appeared within the Vatican and the sprawling, multi-tongued world within a world that it represents. His immediate predecessor had permitted the membership of the College of Cardinals to seriously decline.

The new Pope applied himself at once. Twenty-three new Cardinals were appointed within two and a half months after his coronation and, subsequently, a number more. Other administrative needs--using that word in a very broad sense, were taken care of.

But John XXIII soon made it clear that he had no intention of being just an "interim" Pope. He had seen wars of a kind and scope that had never plagued a war-weary world before. He had seen changes of infinite variety and fatefulness within less than one man's lifetime. He had seen the terrifying swiftness with which unleashed forces could transform, even wholly destroy systems, nations, ancient concepts, and perhaps ultimately the entire world itself.

So his mind was given to two great goals. One was to bring a greater, growing unity and understanding between all Christians everywhere--Catholic and non-Catholic alike. The other was world peace.

What might be termed the universalism of Pope John XXIII appeared in his "Mater et Magistra" in 1961. This dealt carefully, in a most sympathetic manner, with the problems faced by the peoples of the new and developing nations. Then, earlier this year, his encyclical "Pacem in Terris"--Peace on Earth--was issued. And the impact on the world, Protestant as well as Catholic, was enormous. It was a powerful, passionate plea for universal peace and understanding among the nations of the world on a scale and with a dedication never before attempted or considered feasible. There can't be the slightest question as to what John XXIII stood for, or how dedicated he was as to its fulfillment.

The most spectacular of his acts was the opening of the Ecumenical Council. The first of these rare Councils was called in 325, the prior one in 1869-70. The purpose is to reevaluate the work of the Church, to review philosophies and traditions, and, in Pope John's own words, urge the "visible unity in truth of all the followers of Christ."

Many, the world over, are now saying that, brief as was his reign, he was one of the truly great Popes. Certainly, no man did more to heal old wounds or to bring nearer together Christians of all the denominations.

Where Is The Old Fourth?

The Fourth of July--Independence Day! What a world of color, of drama, of history, those few little words bring to mind, and especially to those of an age who can remember what the Fourth used to mean.

It was a day of fun, of course. There were games, complete with prizes for young and old alike, running the gamut from three-legged races to shooting matches. There were the family picnics, and sturdy old tables groaned under them. There were the fireworks, now banned almost everywhere, except in formal displays, for safety reasons. There were the orators--they ran the full gamut from good to indifferent to bad, but they all had one thing in common--dedication, passion, pride in nation, its heritage, and its future. There were the great brass bands, the members standing tall in their pressed, polished uniforms. There were the roll calls of the towering names that had provided leadership in molding and making a nation fit to stand with any nation--Washington, Madison, Monroe, Jefferson, the Adamses, Franklin. . . . And the flags, proud against the sky, flew everywhere.

We still celebrate the Fourth. It's still a national holiday. But something vital has gone out of it. Whatever the reason, the nation is poorer, weaker and smaller because of that. Times have changed. We have grown, prospered, learned sophistications, enjoyed vast material progress. But is the old pride, the old sense of faith in nation and in its destiny, the old courage, still with us?

Each must answer that question for himself. But let him ponder deeply and honestly before answering as another Fourth comes near.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Digit dizzy.
So far as we know the head shrinkers have not set up a special category for citizens suffering from numberitis but it won't be long.

People are going ga-ga because of numbers. Some persons call policy the "numbers game," but there is another numbers game going on today that will put a lot of followers in the loony bin before they are thru.

We are attempting to become too efficient and instead we are steadily but surely approaching the fruit cake stage--you know, getting nuttier and nuttier.

More than a third of the prescriptions that the medicos are writing today, it is said, are intended to relax the user and relieve his tensions.

The idea, of course, is that by eliminating the tension or keeping it down until the problem causing it has been settled, the person so treated will not go completely off his rocker. A little bit, maybe, but not all the way.

Well, that's life for you in this space age--hurry, hurry, hurry. People no longer try to "keep up with Jones"--now they try to get ahead of them. If Jones gets an ulcer his neighbor gets a bigger one; if Jones has a coronary, his neighbor has one that exhausts two inhalator crews. Only an expert, however, can profess to tell who is the nuttier, Jones or the neighbor. No use getting opinions from people living on the block because they are quite likely to be prejudiced.

But getting back to the number business, it seems that the federal bureaucrats are responsible for the situation.

There was a time when a person had a name--a last name as well as a first name. No one has a last name any more except some of the old-line city editors and managing editors on some of the metropolitan dailies. Some of the old-line tycoons also still demand to be called by their last names, preceded by a "Mister," but a lot of big wheels have become initials--J. W.--A. G.--L. J. and so on.

In many places now people work together for years referring to one another as Tom, Dick, Harry or Mary and if they ever knew them to have a last name they have likely forgotten it. Now it appears every one has a number. This poses a question in etiquette. Should he address a girl to whom he has just been introduced as Mary, Mary 3296104, or Miss 3296104?

Time was when only prisoners were addressed or alluded to as No. So-and-so. Not any more. World War I saw the first large scale outbreak of numbers. All prospective draftees were given numbers, and after one was in the service he was given another number that he wore on his dog tags.

The next great numbering came with social security and when the draft was put in effect on permanent basis more numbers were dished out.

Private business took up numbering another step with its so-called Zip Code and apparently every citizen has assigned numbers to all their customers to use in making deposits.

The revenuers have also put the taxpayers on a digit basis and some years ago the post office began assigning zone numbers to areas within certain cities.

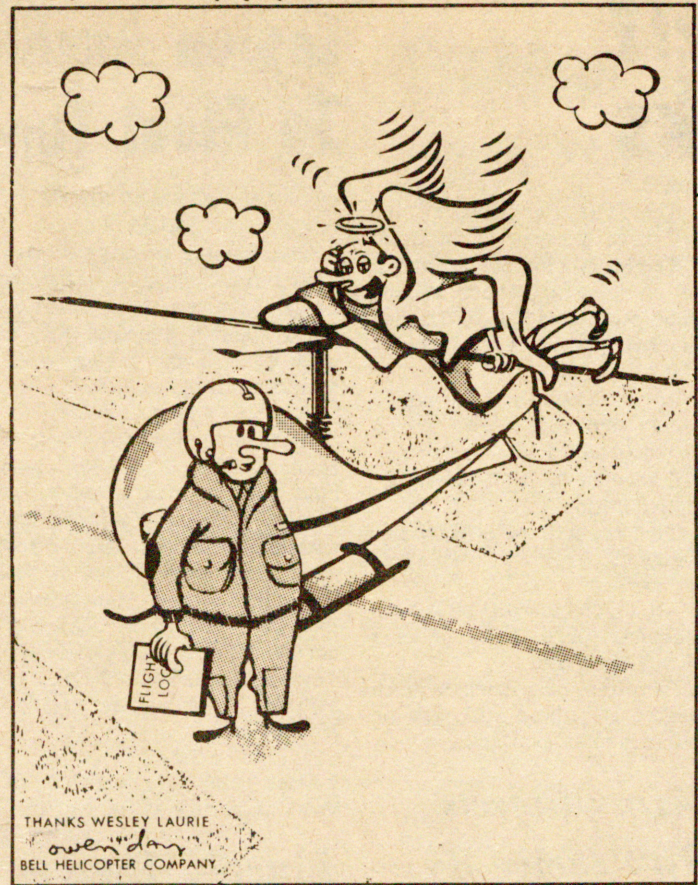

Now the post office has taken another step with its so-called Zip Code and apparently every crossroads hamlet in the Official U. S. Postal Guide either has a number now or will have one soon.

According to the stuff sent out of Washington the Zip Code is to speed up mail delivery. It just goes to show one how wrong he can be--all the time we've been thinking that if the post office went back to using trains instead of trucks to carry mail delivery would be expedited. Apparently that has nothing to do with it. It is the Zip Code--all one has to do is include the Zip Code number as part of the address, and PRESTO! and the letter's there.

These Zip Code numbers have five digits. The clerk sorting the mail doesn't have to look at the name of the town or the state. All he has to do is look at the Zip Code number. Seems like the actual transport of a piece of mail is not what takes up time--where the delay occurs is when the clerk has to read the address seven or eight times before chucking the piece in the proper bag, according to the publicity releases. How the clerk is to remember these thousands of codes is not explained and we admit it is too deep for us.

Business & Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Oil producers with large reserves are now finding that the real value of these reserves is only now becoming an important factor in market appraisals of the firm's actual worth. For quite some time, large reserves have been considered valuable, but given little value in market value of the firm's common stock. Reasons given were largely that these large reserves added only sums to the current earnings of the firm altho they did insure continuity of operation of the firm over a long period.

Those oil firms with well balanced distribution facilities of finished products petrochemical products, refinery capacity, and some oil reserves, were for many years, the most popular with the investor as their earnings assets ranked high in the firm's statements.

Due to controls over production per well, oil firms have tried to have a greater number of wells and larger production available to meet constantly rising petroleum needs. Petrochemical activity of these refinery facilities, have been showing a constantly rising value of the various items produced from a barrel of oil. It is believed that around 60% of all chemical production of this country, is of petroleum origin. The leading petroleum firms are aggressively expanding their stake in petrochemicals and must have increasing amounts of reserves available for such activity.

Recently financial journals have been noting the trend toward merger of fertilizer producers with oil firms. The Financial World notes that "Fertilizer firms are regarded as natural partners of oil concerns desiring to increase their stake in petrochemicals and to broaden their range of consumer products."

"With exception of International Minerals and Chemicals, all of the major producers have now either announced plans to merge with larger companies or have been reported involved in such discussions. Virginia Carolina Chemical is now listed as one of the firms that will take the merger route. Tennessee Corporation touched off the trend when it announced late last year that it would be acquired by Cities Service, a move that is being questioned by the Justice department. Recently, American Agricultural Chemical and Smith-Douglas have high-balled ahead on the Big Board, the former after agreement to merge with Continental Oil and the latter on unconfirmed reports of an imminent sell-out. Virginia Carolina Chemical has joined the list on recurring rumors that it, too, will take the same route."

It is noted that this leaves Spencer Chemical which is known to have been rumored in other merger situations with oil firms. Financial World continues, "Thus to some in Wall Street, it seems only a question of who will be next."

The market has generally been in a state of churning. Some of the leading analysts suggest the industrial averages are about ready to break through on the way to a new industrial average high.

Some analysts express thought that care should be used in making selection and that the better grade issues in the steels may be an active group in the next market rise.

Within a short time, second quarter earnings of the steel firms will be published and they are expected to be very favorable with new peaks achieved in production and earnings.

It is unusual to have two top auto years back to back and many analysts are, therefore, sensitive to weaknesses which may appear in the auto picture. One of the leading investment services emphasizes that it likes the leading motor stocks for the longer term and for those accounts which do not emphasize the short term trading aspects.

However, this service points out that the used car market has shown some weakness in first June reports. This decline in used car prices is reported as having been going on since mid May. The service suggests that trading accounts note this situation but with the thought it has no present long term meaning.

Present indications on the labor front are the the bitter management, may be a thing of the past for some time. These labor battles have been a heavy economic cost to industry as well as labor.

Indications are that there will be no steel strike and that proposed revisions of the present pact will be ratified by the union members.

The rail unions involved in negotiations of the feather bedding aspects of labor contracts, have threatened a rail strike if the roads follow court decisions and put into effect revised rules which the unions are refusing to accept even tho approved by the court and a government recommendation commission.

The unions involved are negotiating as to the extent and speed of enforcement of these changes. The roads are requesting a faster enforcement of changes.

A rail strike was threatened by the firm stand of unions and the roads. The threat of such a strike has now been lifted by agreement of the unions and roads to make a new attempt to negotiate successfully.

President Kennedy advised both parties that unless they reached an agreement by July 10, he would ask Congress to protect the public against the losses caused by a rail strike, by passing legislation to protect the public interest. He noted that such legislation would have a heavy impact on free collective bargaining.

The rail stocks have been experiencing a lift thru the official recognition that they must have an opportunity to fit profitably into the modern transportation picture.

Correction
Sheldon Hauck, New Lenox, a member of the Will county zoning board has not indicated his feelings on the question of what the county board may do relative to payment of mileage to zoning board members who are required to travel thruout the county to attend hearings.

In a story carried last week it was said that Harold Cooper, zoning board member from Mokena, and Mr. Hauck had indicated they were not inclined to keep on with their duties if they have to do all the traveling they have to do at their own expense.

Mr. Hauck says this is in error, that he has not indicated how he feels on the subject to anyone.

A recent study indicated that farm record-keeping and business analysis programs are most economical and successful when offered through cooperative farm management associations. The Illinois Farm Bureau Farm Management Association, in cooperation with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, leads all states enrolling farmers in this program. Illinois has 39 percent of all the farmers participating in cooperative farm management associations in the 13 north-central states and 27 percent of those participating in the United States. County farm advisers have details on this program for interested farmers.

Some farmers will find it profitable to get their roughage from corn silage instead of sacrificing the net returns from an acre of grain to produce an acre of grass-legume. Livestock's water requirements increase tremendously during hot weather. For example, yearling steers will drink about 10 gallons per head daily in June and July compared with about 3 gallons in January.

Here are some ideas to help produce bigger calves at weaning this fall: Creep feeding will make your calves about 40 pounds heavier, according to production testing records on about 10,000 calves. Also, work at several experiment stations has shown that implanting calves with 6 or 12 milligrams of stilbestrol when they are three or four months old will increase weaning weights by 15 to 20 pounds.

By use of mulches in landscape planting areas, soil moisture can be conserved and lower soil temperature maintained, which in turn promote better growth and help to eliminate continuous weeding.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZ'ELL,
ASSOC. FARM ADVISER
CARE FOR YOUR GARDEN

ROSES - Roses are the most popular garden flower. They grow in many forms and are adapted to many different growing locations. The following suggestions should be used as a guide in caring for your roses. Proper care will insure good blooms throughout the season.

Pruning roses, for some reason, is believed to be hard to do. Actually it's a rather simple procedure. Use sharp tools to give clean cuts; and be careful not to injure the bark.

The main purpose of pruning is to improve the plant's appearance, to remove dead wood, and to control the quantity and quality of flowers produced. If roses are not pruned they soon grow into a bramble patch and produce small, inferior flowers.

When pruning, first remove all dead and broken canes. Then cut off portions of canes damaged by winter injury. If no buds are left on the live wood, remove the entire cane. Cut out all weak growth and any branches which grow toward the center of the plant. If two branches cross one another, remove the weaker. Cut back remaining canes so they are about 12 inches long. Always cut on an outside bud, and slope the cut away from the bud.

Do not prune climbing roses until AFTER they bloom except for removing dead and broken canes. Climbers produce flower buds in fall and pruning would cut them off. Flowers are produced only on new or one year old wood. Rather than reducing the number of flowers, severe pruning actually stimulates new wood growth which in turn stimulates flower production.

Roses are more often overfed than underfed. Such feeding causes too much growth and fewer flowers. It also causes plants to continue growing until early winter, making them susceptible to winter injury.

A soil sample is the best way to find out how much fertilizer a rose bed needs, but a good rule-of-thumb is: apply three pounds of a complete fertilizer, such as 10-10-10 for every 100 square feet, or one heaping tablespoon for each plant. Work the fertilizer into the soil, then water.

When a complete fertilizer is used, it may be necessary to apply it several times during the growing season. Make the first application when new spring growth is well established and after frost danger is past. Additional feedings may be made if deficiency symptoms appear. Do not apply fertilizer after Aug. 15.

In general, roses prefer a slightly acid soil. Lime is usually not necessary.

Spraying: Several diseases and insects attack roses. The two most common diseases are black spot and mildew. The most common insects are aphids, rose slugs, spider mites and thrips.

Most rose dusts and sprays are formulated to contain fungicides and insecticides. A commercial spray or dust will give adequate control of both diseases and insects.

As a general rule, dusts give better control than sprays if they are applied while the leaves are damp, because the moisture helps the dust stick to the leaves. Since rose leaves are waxy and slippery, sprays will not stick so well to the leaf surface.

Apply a dust or spray once a week or after each rain.

Palos-Orland Republican Women Prepare For 1964

Target '64 is the slogan selected by the Palos Republican Women's organization to be used in campaign activities carried out in Palos and Orland in connection with the 1964 elections. The pre-campaign program began this month with a group of "brunch and bridge" parties which served a dual purpose: fund raising and acquainting prospective members with the organization. Hostesses for the parties were Mrs. Robert Heyden, Palos Heights; Mrs. E.B. Pool, Palos Heights; Mrs. Charles Retzke, Mrs. Norman McNeil, Mrs. James Miller, all Palos Park; Mrs. George Carroll and Mrs. Gordon Bendix, Orland Park; Mrs. W.R. Blew, Orland Park; Mrs. Donald L. Schultz, Palos Heights; and Mrs. J.E. McGovern, Hickory Hills.

Mrs. Martin Schumacker of 7419 W. 124th pl., Palos Heights, has taken over the duties of president, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Robert Carpenter, who is moving to the east. The first vice-presidency and program chairmanship is now filled by Mrs. George Lundin of 12800 S. 83rd ct., Palos Park.

At a luncheon board meeting held at the home of Mrs. Schumacker last week, Mrs. S. Walker Findley, who represented the local group at an Illinois Federation of Republican Women meeting in Springfield recently, presented to board members a bronze honor roll award given to the Palos Republican Women's Organization as an expression of "grateful appreciation for loyalty and excellence of service."

Motorcycles Kill Two In Homer Twp.

Two motorcycle riders were fatally injured in Homer township last Sunday, and the driver of one machine is paralyzed as a result of his injuries.

Both accidents occurred on 159th street (Ill. 7) within two miles of each other.

First victim was Fred Markunas, 19, of 2352 W. 68th st., Chicago. He was pronounced dead at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, around 11:30 Sunday morning but identification was not certain until the afternoon when a brother arrived.

The other fatality was Mrs. Sharon A. Reeves, 18, of 1102 North Center st., Joliet, paralyzed is Lee Potter, 19, of 1300 New Lenox rd.

Potter was given an arrest ticket by sheriff's deputies last Saturday for driving too fast for conditions. He struck a six year old boy on a bike, injuring the youngster. That accident occurred on the east side of Joliet. He was also ticketed by state police the week previous for an alleged traffic violation and was given a ticket for Sunday's accident charging him with driving too fast.

State Trooper Donald Mikus estimated that Potter was going in excess of 100 m.p.h. when the motorcycle went off the pavement, down an embankment, skidded 200 feet in a ditch and then rolled over several times. The 800-pound machine was resting on top of the victims when they were found. They were brought to Silver Cross hospital in the Northwest Homer Fire Dist. ambulance. Mrs. Reeves died of crushing injuries at 8:30 Sunday night, three hours after the crash. She was arrested last week too following an automobile accident, charged with operating a car without a driver's license.

The first crash took place about a quarter mile west of the Will-Cook road. The motorcycle struck a rock on the highway and plunged off the road, overturning. The rider was hurled off with great force and suffered multiple fractures and crushing injuries.

The second crash occurred two miles further west of the Will-Cook rd. or a mile and a tenth west of Cedar rds. With the two deaths last Sunday the number of traffic fatalities in Will county this year is 23.

Sandburg Grad Winner In News Magazine Contest

Ray Busch, of Palos Hills, a member of the 1963 graduating class of Carl Sandburg high school was a top scorer in the 27th annual current affairs contest staged by Time magazine, in which 400,000 students participated.

Three other Sandburg students who graduated earlier this month, were named among the high-scoring contestants: Bruce Vance, Palos Park; Bill McGowan, Orland Park; and Kenneth Smith, also of Orland Park.

More than 400,000 college and high school students in the United States and Canada took part in the contest this year. There were 105 questions on national and foreign affairs. Also included were such categories as business, sports, entertainment, science, religion, literature, journalism, education and the arts.

Top scorers in each of the more than 3,500 classes enrolled in the magazine's education program get a certificate and a choice of a world globe or a book from a specifically selected list.

More than 4-million students have taken this test since it was begun 27 years ago.

Lunch Deal Success

Two years ago the hot lunch program was instituted in the schools of Orland thru the cooperation of the PTA and the board of education. The PTA donated funds which helped furnish the kitchen at the Orland School.

The cook-manager, Mrs. Mary Tomas, and her kitchen staff, Mrs. Marion Horn, Mrs. Lorene Kettler, and Mrs. Phyllis Schrank, have been praised during the past two years by the students, the board, and parents for the well-balanced and nutritional meals served. Mrs. Tomas has also tried to make the meals attractive and pleasing to the children. The end of the year finances indicate that the program is operating at a satisfactory margin of profit which will allow for the expansion of the program at the Orland Center school by purchasing types of equipment to carry the lunches to that building.

A concern was expressed before the program began in Orland Park that the lunch program might become a drain on finances of the school. Contrary to this, it has paid for itself. The board is happy to inform the community of this successful program.

Separate kitchen facilities are being planned for the Orland Center building. However, until those facilities are completed, it is planned to continue the program as in the past, preparing the food at the Orland Park building and transporting it to the Center building.

Mrs. Harold Barnes entertained a few friends in her home Wednesday afternoon at a Beeline Home style show.

The Zip-Code for New Lenox is 60451, it was announced by Postmaster Lester Brown. Use of this Zip-Code should speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of misdirected mail. Postmaster Brown pointed out.

Zip-Code, the post office department's new system of intended to improve mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally on July 1.

Postmaster Brown said all citizens of New Lenox should learn the Zip-Code number and use on their return address. In answering mail, he said, Zip-Code taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The Zip-Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Mr. Brown said. "It should follow the city and state in addresses."

He cited this example of the proper use of Zip-Code: Lester E. Brown, Postmaster, U.S. Post Office New Lenox, Ill. 60451.

The new Zip Code Plan, Mr. Brown said, for the first time will permit the post office department to short cut repeated address reading.

"With Zip Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state, and post office the letter is destined."

The New Lenox Womens Club met Tuesday for the final meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Lucille Drake in Lockport. Dessert-coffee was served by the hostess, and Mrs. Betty Duerr, president, conducted the business meeting. Company Gets Award For Bike Safety Campaign

National recognition has been given to the safe bicycle driving program which resulted in the establishment of a bicycle safety campaign in Orland Park. At a recent ceremony in Newark, N. J., Gov. Howard Pyle president of the National Safety Council, presented the national public service award of the Bicycle Institute of America to The American Insurance Company.

This national program is being conducted by the insurance company with the objective of instilling in bicycle riding young people the habits and practices of safe driving they will need in the future to operate automobiles in a safe and responsible way.

As a result of the national program, which was launched in six states last autumn and extended nationally this spring, hundreds of communities around the country already have established organized safe bicycle driving programs.

The American is national sponsor of the bicycle safety program with which Orland Park is cooperating. John E. Murphy of the Murphy Insurance Agency is the sponsor of the Orland program.

4,000 Attend Charity Horse Show At Triple-R

BY DORIS GERDEL

The Triple R charity horse show held at Frankfort, June 22 and 23 was a great success. Approximately 4,000 people viewed the horse show and quarter horse races.

There were 400 entries in the performance classes.

At times the outdoor arena was quite dusty, but thanks to the Frankfort Fire Dept., dust was held to a minimum as they watered down the arena several times. The audience was warned that they might receive a shower as the watering hoses were used, but not many spectators moved, as a spray of water felt good during the heat of the day.

Police chief, Francis Simon of Frankfort was on duty both days maintaining order and discipline.

Dale Robertson, star of Wells Fargo, was on hand to sign autographs and judge a coloring contest that was held for youngsters, ages 6 to 9. These pictures were displayed in the "cook - house" where all who took advantage of eating the barbecued chicken prepared and served by auxiliary members could view them. As Dale left for Oklahoma in his private plane he "buzzed" the ranch, to the delight of youngsters and adults.

The RRR futurity quarter horse race was won by Hannek Socks, owned by Paul Hannek; 2nd place, Bud's Bull, owned by August Burch, Jr; 3rd place Bright Deck, owned by Tom McKay.

The "All-Around" quarter horse trophy was won by Poco Annette, owned by Gordon Hannagan of Penfield, Ill.

The "Youth Activity" high point trophy was won by Lewie Wood Jr. of Grayslake, Ill.

The auxiliary and show committee members left the Triple R late Sunday night - sunburned and dusty, but with a feeling of pride and satisfaction, knowing that once again we had given "our all" to make this show one of the top shows in the Midwest.

Ogilvie Cracks Down On Bootleg Fireworks

(CNS) - Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie Thursday named Leyden and Stickney townships, Arlington Heights and Alsip as the areas with the most activity in the illegal sale of fireworks.

Ogilvie's statement came as he ordered a crackdown on the illegal sale of fireworks in the unincorporated areas of Cook County.

Ogilvie said he notified Sheriff's Police Chief Arthur Bilek that he wanted extraordinary measures taken to enforce anti-fireworks laws. All members of the Sheriff's police had already been notified by special order of the provisions in Illinois statutes which outlaw unauthorized sale or use of fireworks.

"We expect unscrupulous individuals to try every trick in the book in their effort to make a fast buck between now and the 4th of July," Ogilvie said. "We are going to do everything possible to stop it. But we need the cooperation of all citizens, especially parents."

Nathan Klein, director of the juvenile bureau, said that three adults and 27 children have been arrested within the last week for the sale or possession of fireworks.

The latest person arrested was Phillip Bergen, 32, of 8200 S. LeClair av., Stickney township. Bergen was picked up at his home Tuesday after five children identified him as the man who sold them fireworks.

He was scheduled to appear in Lyons Police Court June 27 on a charge of sale and possession of fireworks. Bergen faces a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail or a $100 fine, or both.

Seven of the 27 children were turned over to Family Court authorities and the remaining 20 were released in the custody of their parents.

Ogilvie noted that "The sale of fireworks is illegal. The reasons for the prohibition is to prevent death or injury to children and adults."

As an example of the danger of fireworks, Ogilvie said that a 15-year old boy is now in the North Suburban hospital suffering from burns on his chest, hands and face when a firecracker exploded in his hands. Ogilvie refused to identify the victim.

Ogilvie added, "We have had reports of individuals pulling up in private cars near playgrounds or school yards and selling fireworks to children. There have been other reports which indicate organized attempts to violate the law in this regard."

"We do not want a single case of death or injury from fireworks in Cook county," Ogilvie said. "We will investigate immediately any complaint regarding such sale and will take appropriate action against violators," he concluded.

County Saloons May Get A New Late-Late License

(CNS) - A resolution to extend the closing time of "late-late" taverns and liquor stores in the unincorporated areas of Cook County to 4 a.m. on week days and 5 a.m. on Saturdays was proposed to the County Board of Commissioners Monday by Commissioner Charles F. Chaplin.

The proposed resolution set the annual fee for the special "late-late" liquor license at $1,000. The $1,000 fee would be in addition to the present regular fee of $500 established April 30 for remaining open until 1 a.m. on week days and until 2 a.m. on Saturdays.

Action on the resolution was deferred until the next board meeting June 27 at the request of Board President Seymour

Simon.

Simon asked for the deferment so that the resolution would come before the Board after the completion of a survey of closing hours and license fees in Cook County villages.

The survey was undertaken, Simon said, to "make as consistent as possible" the closing hours and license fees of the unincorporated areas with those of the villages in an attempt to avoid unfair competition.

At present, the latest that retailers of liquor in the unincorporated areas of the county can remain open is until 2 a.m. for every day of the week. A daily "late" 2 a.m. limit was set April 30 by the board for a fee of $350 in addition to the regular $500 license fee.

St. Mary's Catholic church of Mokena provided the setting for the marriage ceremony of Miss Eugenia Lillian Marcoux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Marcoux of Sylvandale Farm, Mokena and Wesley Charles Smith, son of Mrs. William G. Scott of Denver, Colo. and the late Ernest Smith.

Nuptial promises were recited by the couple at 11 o'clock mass the morning of June 15 with the Rev. Cecil Koop officiating.

During the service the mass was sung by the Notre Dame church choir of Clarendon Hills with Mrs. Peter Shea accompanying on the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin floor length bridal gown with embroidered pearls and sequins on the fitted bodice, featuring a square neckline. The embroidery was repeated down the front panel and around the hem of the skirt which extended into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of jeweled pearls and crystals, and she carried a white prayer book covered with a spray of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Maid of honor, Miss Maureen O'Reilly of Joliet, was attired in a pink chiffon street length gown and wore a transparent pink open crown picture hat with a flowered border. She carried a cascade bouquet of burgundy roses.

Attired in gowns of identical design were bridesmaids, Miss Jayne Wheeler of Frankfort, cousin of the bride; Miss Karen Mather of Minneapolis, Minn., and Miss Linda Matasovic of Mokena.

John Marcoux, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Smith as best man and ushers were Tom Marcoux and brothers of the bride; Albert Jennings of Chicago, Steve Scott, brother of the groom and Cecil Higginson, cousin of the groom, both of Denver, Colo.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the Joliet Country club to which some 175 guests attended. For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Marcoux chose a beige chiffon dress with re-embroidered lace and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Scott selected a silk gold brocade dress with matching jacket. Both mothers wore natural cymbidium orchid corsages.

Following their wedding trip thru the eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside at Boulder, Colo. where they will continue their studies at the University of Colorado.

Mrs. Smith graduated from St. Francis academy, Joliet and attended Barat college, Lake Forest and at present is a student at the University of Colorado.

At a special meeting of the Frankfort board of education last Thursday (June 20), Warning Chevrolet, Inc. was awarded the contract for leased school bus transportation beginning the 1963-64 school term.

Also at this special meeting the rates to be charged for transporting students that live within 1 1/2 miles from the school were set as follows: $4 per family for one student, $5 per family for two students,

$6 per family for three or more students.

Other details of setting up transportation included the use of the state department of highway's measuring wheel to determine the 1 1/2 mile distance from the school. In setting up the transportation routes, the board will follow the state approved policy of routes within reasonable distance of residence. This is not to be construed as door-to-door pick up. Pick up stations for each route will be announced at a later date.

Shower Given
Bride-to-be

Miss Barbara Niemann, of Downers Grove, was the honored guest at a surprise miscellaneous shower on Sunday, June 16 at the VFW hall in Mokena, given by Marilyn Simrell, Carol Foster, Jean Hentsch, Yvonne Stephen and Lois Niemann, who presented her with a corsage of white carnations centered with yellow rose buds on her arrival.

Burial Allowance Given For Eligible Veterans

A burial allowance in an amount not to exceed $250 may be payable upon the death of an eligible veteran to reimburse the undertaker or the person who incurred burial and funeral expenses. Edward B. Akin, Administrator, Illinois Veterans' Commission stated the proper claimant is the undertaker, if expenses unpaid, otherwise, to the person who paid expenses of burial and funeral.

The deceased veteran must have been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. Mr. Akin pointed out, and to have been either a wartime veteran; or a peacetime veteran in receipt of compensation at time of death; or discharged or retired for a disability incurred in line of duty. In addition, an American flag to drape the casket of an eligible veteran may be issued at time of funeral.

Mr. Akin also advised burial in national cemeteries may be furnished, including gravesite and actual interment; opening, closing and marking the grave, all without charge or cost to the family. Burial is available to any deceased veteran of wartime or peacetime service whose last period of service terminated honorably.

For further information in these and other veteran problems, he advised veterans to visit their nearest Illinois Veterans' Commission office.

In Will county, veterans should contact the Illinois Veterans' Commission office at 4 East Clinton St., Joliet.

Society Warns Danger In Use Of Fireworks

The 5th of July may well be a day of reckoning for parents and for children in the state as they face the prospect of a lifetime without an eye or a hand or some other equally tragic handicap caused by a fireworks explosion on the 4th of July.

Frank F. Fowle, president of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, points out that individual ownership and use of fireworks is illegal in Illinois. He further alerts all parents to the fact that there has been a tremendous increase in the amount of fireworks bootlegged into Illinois this year and in the amount of accidents which have already occurred, involving fireworks.

Is it unfortunate that so many children unknowingly become involved in breaking a law which was passed for their physical protection. The tragedy of this is that many parents actually buy the fireworks for their children deluding themselves by thinking there is no danger since they themselves were not injured by fireworks when they were children.

Schools and police throughout Illinois are reporting serious incidents involving fireworks and the Society urges all parents to exert great diligence in seeing that their children do not get fireworks of any kind.

Another serious danger to children are the safety flares, designed for use by motorists and railroad engineers in time of emergency. These are advertised by some stores for a "safe and sane" 4th of July. Fowle asks, what is either safe or sane is giving a child one of these flares which burn at 1,200 to 2,500 degrees Fahrenheit?

Many of these flares have a large steel spike in one end, strong enough to be driven into a macadam or into a railroad tie. Any child running with a flare would certainly be subject to great injury if he fell for that steel spike could easily be driven into his body.

The Society commends the individual local police departments throughout the state for their vigilance in enforcing the fireworks law but recognizes that they need the support of parents and all adults in each community in combating this problem.

Public fireworks displays are held throughout the state so that young and old alike may celebrate their country's Independence Day without permanent, crippling injuries.

$3.61 Price Of May Milk At Chicago

Dairy farmers who shipped milk to Chicago Order 30 handlers in May will be paid a minimum of $3.61 per cwt. on base milk, with a 20-cent superpool included, and $3.01 per cwt. on excess milk, Larry L. Edwards, director of marketing for Pure Milk Association, reported today.

The $3.61 minimum base price represents a one cent per cwt. increase over the May 1962 minimum base price paid all producers for the Chicago marketing area.

In addition to the $3.61 minimum base price producers who deliver to plants which utilize at least 40 percent of their base milk for fluid milk and cream sales for the Chicago market will receive a 10-cent superpool premium over the announced 20-cent superpool price on base milk.

In addition, a 5-cent superpool premium on base milk is paid to producers whose farms are located within 70 miles of Chicago.

The superpool additions are the result of handler payment of a superpool premium of 75 cents per cwt. above the federal order price on Class I (bottled) milk and a 20 cents per cwt. premium on the fluid portion of Class II milk.

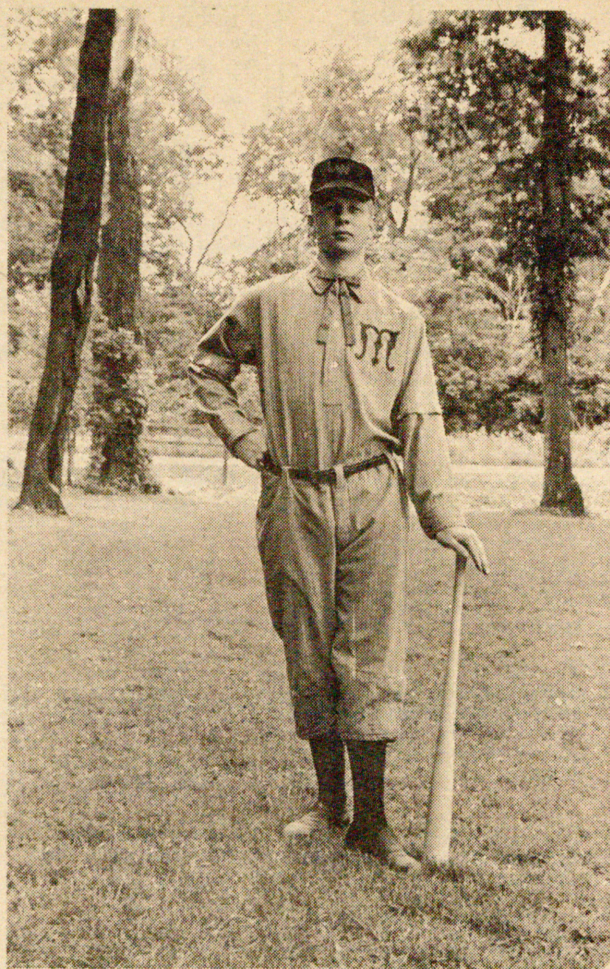

The uniform order prices announced for producer milk under Order 30 in May were $3.41 for base milk and $3.01 for excess milk.

These prices are for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat test delivered to plants within the 55- to 70-mile zone. The differential for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat above or below 3.5 percent is 7 cents per cwt.

May deliveries totaled 562,778,314 pounds. This was .55 percent more than for the same month in 1962.

Approximately 47 percent of total producer milk under Order 30 in May, this year, was used for Class I and Class II purposes.

Class I sales under Order 30 in May amounted to nearly 198 million pounds compared with 192 million pounds in April.

WHAT MOKENA BASEBALL team members wore some years ago. The suit is the property of Lawrence Kohl, who farms near Mokena. The young man wearing the suit is Paul Brown and the occasion is the preparation for the historical pageant that is to be staged July 4 in Mokena Community park as part of the annual Fiesta Days celebration. Fiesta Days is sponsored by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce. The pageant will be presented by the Mokena Women's club.

Chess Tourney To Get World Attention

The eyes of the chess world will be on Chicago this summer when the United States open championship is held from Aug. 13 to 23 at the Hotel Belmont, 3172 N. Sheridan Road.

More than 200 American players are expected to compete. They will try to bring back the Open championship to the United States, but their task will not be easy.

The present champion is Antonio Medina, of Venezuela, who won at San Antonio last summer. This year the foreign challenge will be even stronger!

Svetozar Gligorich, champion of Yugoslavia, has definitely agreed to take part in the U.S. Open. Yugoslavia is one of the world's chess strongholds and Gligorich is one of the world's best players.

The Yugoslav champion will come to Chicago after the great Piatagorsky Cup Tournament in Los Angeles, which has an outstanding field including the new world champion, Tigran Petrosian of the Soviet Union.

Organizers of the U. S. Open are hoping that some of these chess giants will join Gligorich in entering the tournament here.

This year's Open tournament will be called "The Dr. Ernest B. Zelsler Memorial tournament" in honor of the late Chicago chess enthusiast, whose widow has made a generous contribution to support the game her husband loved so well.

Tournament director will be Ernest Olfe of Milwaukee, who directed the last U.S. Open to be held in Chicago. That was back in 1937! Assistant tournament director will be Frank J. Skoff, president of the Gompers Park Chess Club.

Entries are being taken by Richard Verber, 2725 W. 84th St., Chicago, 52, and tickets may be bought from Peter Wolf, AM 2-4752.

Players will be paired according to the Swiss System, under which those at the top of the standings meet each other as the tournament progresses, thus ensuring the keenest possible competition among the large field.
